Hi,

I didn't get a question response request from you today. I got an item from some "Clearing House." It was to the world with a request for every division to respond or say why they didn't respond.

I will be happy to provide a response for you if you want. The response will be really simple. The report that we spent stimulus money on training is true. The error of Florida and the Commissioner of education promised we would spend the money on things like training.

However the report failed to make clear that training was not the only thing we used the money

However, we received over $66 million and almost all went to preventing layoffs among district employees. While we didn't create very many jobs we prevented the loss of 1,484 jobs worth about $77 million and created $49 million in new jobs with the money.

I hope this helps.

Jim

The attachment is background for the question response request I sent you earlier today. As Steve said below... the second attachment is about job creation. Thanks again.
